Diagnostic Medical Technology Certification
The American Registry of Diagnostic Medical Sonographers (ARDMS) is an independent, non-profit organization that administers examinations and awards credentials in the areas of diagnostic medical sonography, cardiac diagnostic sonography and vascular technology. For information on the registration exams, please visit the American Registry for Diagnostic Medical Sonographers Web site: (http://www.ardms.org/default.asp?ContentID=1&menubar=1).

The American Registry of Radiologic Technologists (ARRT) tests, certifies and annually registers radiologic technologists. The ARRT offers a sonography certification for appropriately credentialed applicants. Please visit the American Registry of Radiologic Technologists Web site for further information: https://www.arrt.org/