Allen College
UnityPoint Health

Public Health
Prevent. Promote. Protect.

Enhance your Skill Set: Allen College DPT to Bachelor of Health Sciences – Public Health

Physical Therapy Students and Graduates from Allen College — take another step in continuing your education with a streamlined path to earn your BS in Health Sciences – Public Health at Allen College.

Why Choose to Continue Your Education?

- Seamless Transition: Graduate from your Doctor of Physical Therapy (DPT) program in the fall semester and begin the public health program in the spring as a part-time student or the following fall as a full-time student.
- Transfer 9 credits from the DPT program and 9 from your undergraduate degree program, reducing your tuition significantly.
- 25% tuition reduction.
- Improve your skill set in the areas of health education and promotion, social determinants of health, the U.S. health care system, management, global health, environmental health and working with diverse communities.

Program Highlights

- Total PH credit hours: 36
- Transfer credits: 9 credits guaranteed from DPT coursework; up to 9 credits from your undergraduate degree. (Maximum total: 18)
- All courses are taught completely online offering you the flexibility to work while you attend.
- With an online degree, you can study from anywhere with a stable internet connection, eliminating the need to relocate or commute.

For additional information, contact Dr. Gayle Walter, Program Director, at gayle.walter@allencollege.edu